

Rhodes High School Report Letter

Dear Parents

An alive school, where success is achieved, is concerned about the achievements and well-being of the young people in its care. It is also true that no learning organization remains static as it either moves forward or regresses.

Rhodes is an excellent school that strives for excellence and is constantly on the road of improvement. This cannot be done without the involvement and support of the full community. Parents need to be actively involved in the lives and learning of their children.

The school offers opportunity for improvement by ...

- providing educational talks for parents.
- ensuring that parents are invited to meet with support groups on Monday afternoons, to motivate our young people as well as put things in perspective.
- caring for our students and showing a genuine interest in their well-being.
- providing career counseling.
- recognizing success by awarding the hard work and improvements our young people make.

I could list more things but none of these will be effective unless we work together as a "family". We have been encouraged by the excellent attendance at meetings and the communication from parents. We thank for your support of the Environmental / Sport day held on 31 March. A cultural week is planned for 11-15 May. Parents are invited to the Friday 15 May evening event. Tickets cost R25.

Please realize that the term 1 report is a reflection of progress so far this year. It does not provide as good a picture as the June report, where Examination marks are included. Please book a slot to speak with the teachers in areas where there are concerns or questions. Time has been allocated on Saturday 9 May for interviews. Let's use the report as basis for planning the way forward.

The CAMI report is the result of your child's work in the Mathematics Laboratory for Term 1. Your child should have completed at least 10 exercises (100 sums). The Mathematics Lab is open daily before school, during breaks and after school.

Thank you for your support. We have a great school and together it will achieve the excellence we all desire.

Yours sincerely

Keith Long
